Herding Instinct Assessment

For herding breeds to be assessed on their level of interest, ability, drive, and style. This intro session is a great opportunity to determine your dog's training journey or just have fun with your dog doing what they are bred to do.

Instructor will handle your dog, or be with you and the livestock at all times.

You're welcome to stay on the side and video your dog! Instructor will narrate your dog's abilities and what they are working on as they do it.

Stock Dog Herding - Intro to Livestock For Handlers

Learn how livestock thinks so you can predict their behaviors and help your dog herd.

This is for people who want to handle their own dogs herding and either purchase livestock and use their dog, or so they can be better with herding at competitions, it will also help you be better at understanding how to position your dog and what your dog is trying to do. Sheep, cattle, ducks and geese will be used.

Stock Dog Herding Mini Sessions

(AKC, ASCA, ABCHA, NCA, Ranch/Field Work)

Lessons will begin on sheep, and then with instructor approval can transition to cattle, ducks and geese. Instructor may herd with your dog, or you can choose to join your dog and learn how to herd with it and partner together to group and move livestock. Learn dog herding behaviors, and shape their drive. Once dogs are grouping livestock, introduce commands, shape style, fetch, drive, outruns, balance, ranch work, sorting, and more. Lessons are split with one other person per hour, to take turns, one watch, one herd, repeat. Usually 3 turns at least each. Dog's require brain breaks.

Intro to Treibball

Introduce your dog to ball herding. Dogs will learn directions, commands, how to push the ball, send outs, stops, and more. Increase your bond with your dog and practice your herding with your dog's herding abilities in the city and without livestock.
